VENICE HAS VISIT FROM AIR RAIDERS

HOSTILE AEROPLANES ATTEMPT AN ATTACK ON ITALIAN ARSENAL BUT ARE DRIVEN OFF.

OPEN ACTUAL WARFARE

Italian Statement Claims That Austrian Warships Retire After a Short Bombardment of Adriatic Coast.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Paris, May 24.—An attack by Austrian warships on the eastern coast of Italy along the Adriatic is announced in an official communication from the Italian war office, transmitted to Paris by the correspondent of the Havas agency. It is said these Austrian warships were forced to withdraw after short cannonading. The statement follows:

"It was foreseen that on the declaration of war offensive actions would occur against our Adriatic coast with the purpose of seeking a moral effect rather than attaining the military purpose, but we are able to prepare for these and render their duration short.

"Small naval units of the enemy, especially destroyers and torpedo boats, fired their guns on our Adriatic coast on May 24, between four and six o'clock in the morning. At the same time aeroplanes attempted to attack the arsenal at Venice.

"The enemy, after a very short cannonade, were forced to withdraw on our torpedo boats. The enemy's aeroplanes were fired upon by our artillery and attacked by our aeroplanes and by a division flying over the Adriatic.

"The news of the aerial attack of the Italian arsenal and aggression of Austrian warships on the eastern coast of Italy, and their being driven back, was received in Rome with cheering.

Italian Troops Mobilized. London, May 24.—The general mobilization of the Italian army and navy is said to have been completed. On the Austrian side of the line martial law has been declared. In Trentino the age limit for military service has been raised to 50 years and stringent measures have been taken to control the Italian population of the dual monarchy.

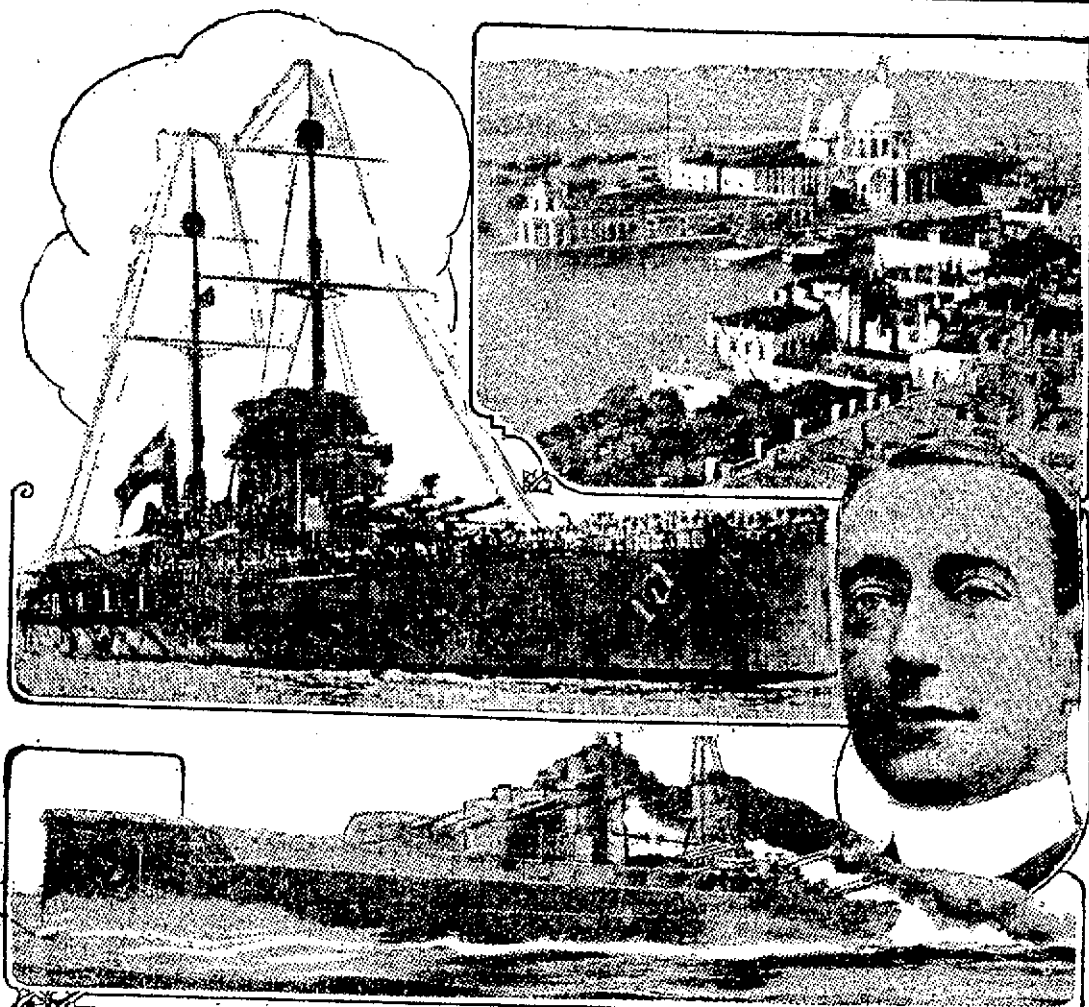

Austrian Flyers at Venice. Rome, via Paris, May 24.—Official announcement was made here that Austrian aeroplanes have attacked the Venetian arsenal at Venice. The were driven off.

Germany Recalls Von Buelow. London, May 24.—A dispatch from Paris to the Exchange Telegraph company says a telegram from Basel states that the Von Buelow announced that Germany has declared war against Italy and has recalled Prince Von Buelow, her ambassador at Rome.

Report Von Burian's Resignation. Rome, via Paris, May 24.—Reports which have been received here that Baron Burian, the Austrian foreign minister, has resigned, are generally accepted as true, and have caused comment. This report in full is attributed to the failure of the Austro-Italian negotiations and the declaration of war by Italy.

The Hague, May 24.—From information reaching The Hague it is un-

VENICE THREATENED AS ITALY AND AUSTRIA BEGIN WAR

Austrian dreadnought Veribus Unitis (top); Venice from St. Mark's; Italian dreadnought Conte di Cavour; Duke d'Abuzzi.

Venice, one of Italy's most famous and beautiful cities, is threatened with bombardment by the Austrian fleet. One of the Austrian battleships which would be likely to take part in such a bombardment is the Veribus Unitis, a dreadnought of 22,000 tons displacement, completed three years ago at a cost of $12,165,000, carrying a complement of 1000 men and equipped with twelve 12-inch guns. One of the newer Italian dreadnoughts is the Conte di Cavour, flagship of the Duke d'Abuzzi, commander of the fleet.

derstood the Germans and Austrians have concentrated approximately 580,000 men on the Italian frontier. They have occupied strategic positions in order to meet an attack or attempt to strike the first heavy blow in an endeavor to dishearten the new combatants at the beginning of their campaign.

The Germans constitute the larger part of this force which is made up of thirty-four divisions of approximately 20,000 men each. Only ten of these divisions are Austrians. German and Austrian diplomats here apparently are not perturbed by the entry into the war of a new antagonist. It is pointed out in other quarters, however, that Italy's decision may have the effect of curtailing Germany's supplies, large quantities of which hitherto have reached Germany by way of Italy and Switzerland.

There is much interest among diplomats here in regard to the attitude of Rumania and other Balkan states. War Demonstrations Continued. Rome, May 24.—Enthusiastic demonstrations in favor of the war continued throughout Italy. In Florence, Venice, Genoa, Milan and other large centers crowds thronged the streets cheering for the king and for the army.

Most of the members of the chamber of deputies have volunteered for the army. Swiss Troop Movements. Basel, Switzerland, May 24.—The Swiss government is sending heavy reinforcements of troops to the canton of Ticino. The purpose of these troop movements is to prevent the Italian irredentists in Switzerland from organizing volunteer corps for service in the Italian army.

Summarizes Italian Position. Rome, May 24, via Paris, May 24.—The official statement published at Vienna charging Italy did not adhere to the principle of the triple alliance treaty is declared by the Giornale d'Italia as to be entirely incorrect and misleading. The position is summarized by this newspaper as follows:

"The situation of Italy became intolerable when Austrian and German aggression against Serbia caused the European conflagration without giving previous notification to Rome. Italy legitimately undertook to protect her own interests according to the right granted her by the triple alliance treaty.

"Austria, despite German government offices, blindly and obstinately resisted Italy's just demands, rendering inevitable acute antagonism. Therefore, Austria alone is responsible for the new war, although Germany is not entirely blameless, though Italy did every human thing to prevent it.

Disagree on Treaty. "It is exceedingly strange that Austria now asserts article 7 of the triple alliance treaty refers to Turkey and not to the Balkans, although it contains the phrase 'status quo in Balkan region'. The meaning of this phrase has been discussed since August, 1914, between the Rome and Vienna governments. The latter with the complete agreement of Berlin ended by adhering without condition to the Italian interpretation that it meant not only Turkey, but also the states in the Balkan peninsula.

At Vatican Court. London, May 24.—The Reuters Telegram company received a dispatch from its correspondent at Madrid, who says the German and Austrian Hungarian representatives at the Italian court and Vatican are leaving Rome tonight, having entrusted the Italian court and Vatican to the Spanish ambassador in Rome.

Seek Passports. Paris, May 24.—Crowds of Italians gathered today at the Italian embassy seeking passports that they may return to their country and join the army. The men cheered enthusiastically for Italy and France.

German Aeroplanes. Paris, May 24.—Another German aeroplane of the type they flew over the northern suburbs of Paris this morning and in its flight dropped several projectiles. No person was injured by these projectiles.

ITALIANS IN AMERICA ARE URGED TO ENLIST

New York Papers of Italian Language Publish Call to Enroll for Service.

New York, May 24.—A call to all Italians and American citizens of Italian birth to enroll here for service in the Italian army was published in newspapers of that language here today.

A large crowd of Italian reservists gathered in the rain today at the door of the Italian consulate general here, eager to learn if they were needed with the colors at home. Although drenched by the downpour, their fervor seemed undampened and their spirits ran high. Extra policemen were called to keep the crowd in line.

Pittsburgh, May 24.—According to figures recently arrived at the Italian consulate here, about 25,000 Italians, residents of western Pennsylvania, are subject to military duty if they are needed. No more have yet been made to send these reservists home, nor will there be, according to leading Italians, until there is a formal call.

Held Meeting. Milwaukee, May 24.—A number of persons of Italian birth and other American-Italian born met today and adopted resolutions in which they declared their support to President Wilson in his declaration of neutrality. Other resolutions called on the American press to give fair representation of the Italian side of the war and recommended that all citizens be cool and calm and not to express their views in such a manner as to cause undue excitement. A committee has been appointed to see before the American people Italy's side of controversy affecting its northern boundary.

AMERICA WILL LEAD THE WAY FOR PEACE

AT OPENING OF PAN-AMERICAN CONFERENCE WILSON VOICES AMERICAN SENTIMENT.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Points Out Needs to Bring Two Americas Into Closer Commercial Relation.—Given Large Applause.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Washington, May 24.—President Wilson speaking at the opening of the Pan-American financial conference today, expressed the hope that the Americas might show the world the path to peace.

The president was loudly applauded by the delegates as he entered the hall of the Americans, in the Pan-American Union building, where the meetings are being held. On the platform were members of the cabinet while the audience included many high government officials in addition to representatives from South as well as Central American countries.

The president declared the people of the Americas were not trying to make use of one another, but trying to be of use to one another. He spoke of the "handsome rivalry" which he said was good for nations.

The lack of physical means of communication between the Americas, he said, stood somewhat in the way of the development of commerce and friendship. He advocated more ships to carry the American trade and the opening of a new route the president said that if private capital cannot so establish such means of communication, the government must undertake to do so. At the conclusion of the president's address, he was applauded again. He remained in the hall while representatives of the different nations responded to his welcome.

The president said: "There can be no sort of union of interests if there is a purpose of exploitation on the part of any person connected with a great conference of this sort. We are here, therefore, trying to make use of each other, but trying to be of use to each other.

"It is very surprising to me. It is even a source of mortification that so long delayed, that it should never have occurred before; that it should have required a crisis of the world to show the Americans how truly they are neighbors to one another. If there is any one happy circumstance, gentlemen, arising from the present distressing circumstances of the world it is that it has revealed to one another; it has shown us what it means to be neighbors and I cannot help harboring the hope, the very high hope, that by this commerce of minds with one another as well as commerce in goods, we may show the world the path to peace.

"It would be a very great thing if the Americas could add to the distinction which they already wear, that of showing the way to peace."

NORWEGIAN NAVY PICKS UP FLOATING MINES

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Christiania, Norway, May 24.—The Norwegian Navy has been enriched to the extent of about $120,000 by 800 German and English mines which have been picked up off this coast. Each mine is valued at $200. The Norwegian Navy, however, is not to make use of them as mines. The explosive contents are being carefully removed and used for other naval purposes.

CONSOLIDATION BILL FOR TAX COMMISSION

COMMITTEE HEARING ON BILL TO ABOLISH COMMISSION ON WEDNESDAY.

URGE PLEDGE MEASURE

Six Other Consolidating Measures, Except on Education Board, Will Be Reported for Passage.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., May 24.—The hearing on the bill to abolish the present tax commission and to create a new tax department with one member at the head will be given a hearing Wednesday afternoon by the assembly committee on taxation. This is the sixth consolidation bill of the session. The other measures, with the exception of the central education board, food department, state board of agriculture, state livestock sanitary board, state veterinarian and inspector of apiaries and have a general supervision over the agricultural fairs and societies to which state aid is granted.

Agricultural commission of three members at a salary of $3,500 annually to perform the work of the state board of agriculture, state livestock sanitary board, state veterinarian and inspector of apiaries and have a general supervision over the agricultural fairs and societies to which state aid is granted.

Public welfare commission of five members at a salary of $3,500 annually to perform the work of the present state board of health, state dairy and food department, state board of control and treasury agent's department.

New Printing Board. New state printing board to be composed of the governor, superintendent of public property and state auditor, to be appointed by the governor.

State conservation commission of three members at a salary of $3,500 annually to perform the work of the present commission, fish and game department, state conservation commission, fire warden and state forester.

A state education board of thirteen non-salaried members to perform the duties of the non-salaried board of regents of the university, the board of regents of the normal schools and the trustees of the Stout manual training school and the mining school at Platteville.

Tax Department. The new tax department will be composed of one member at a salary of $5,000 annually, instead of three members at that salary. There will be two ex-officio members of the board, however, the governor and state treasurer. The tax commissioner will be named by the governor, with the approval of the senate, for a term of four years. The section of the statutes defining the duties of the assessor of incomes is re-enacted and all of the duties are conferred upon the assessor of incomes. Included in the duties of the assessor of incomes is that of levying the income tax, performed in conjunction with the tax commission. No change in rates, or exemptions, which would affect the present income tax law is proposed.

Commissioner's Powers. Because of the extra work which will be imposed upon a single commission, the bill gives the commissioner authority to appoint an assistant to aid in hearings and reports. The collection of the inheritance tax is transferred to the office of the attorney general. The inheritance tax is a position now held by John Harrington of Oshkosh, is made an attaché of the attorney general's office and is to be appointed by the attorney general.

The joint engineering staff of the tax and railroad commission is made the engineering staff of the railroad commission but is specifically directed to value the railroads and public utilities of the state and to transmit a copy of the findings of the value of the property to the tax commission.

Assessment Schedule. The supervisors of assessment named in the bill will be named by the county board at the annual meeting. They will serve for a term of three years, but the county board is given authority to remove them at any time. Each supervisor will be placed under a bond of $5,000. Compensation will be fixed by the board, but it may not be less than three dollars a day, while actually employed in the duties of the board.

The county board is allowed to limit the number of days during which the work is to be performed, based on a scale that considers the value of the property assessed. In counties with an assessed valuation of $10,000,000 or more the work will be done in not less than 75 days; in the counties having a valuation in excess of $200,000,000 not less than 200 days. The county board may appoint assistants, but the county income tax assessors shall be continued until January 1, 1916.

POLITICIAN KILLED IN SHOOTING AFFAIR

Charleston Police Chief Shoots and Kills Victim in Revolver Fight on Main Streets.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Charleston, W. Va., May 24.—E. C. Lewis, a politician of Logan, W. Va., was shot and killed there last night by A. H. Sutphin, chief of police. Lewis quarreled with E. E. White, a member of town council and drew his revolver but when Sutphin approached he turned the weapon on him shooting him in the leg. As Sutphin fell, he fired, killing Lewis.

NEW YORK GOVERNOR NAMES TWO MEMBERS ON NEW COMMISSION

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Albany, N. Y., May 24.—John Mitchell and James M. Beck were appointed by Governor Whitman today as members of the state industrial commission of five, which superceded the workmen's compensation commission and state labor department. Mr. Mitchell was named as chairman of the commission.

RUSSIAN SHIP SUNK WITH 1400 MEN IN BLACK SEA BATTLE

Unofficial Report Credits That Entire Crew Lost With Ship—Details Are Missing.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Berlin, Bul. wireless to Sayville, May 24.—The Overseas News agency today says:

"According to a Bucharest dispatch the Russian armored man of war Winteleimon has been sunk with 1400 men in the Black Sea.

The foregoing evidently refers to the Russian battleship Panteleimon. This warship, whose destruction is said to have caused the loss of 1400 lives, is put down in the naval reference book as having a complement of about 700 men. In times of war, however, this number might be increased considerably.

The Panteleimon was built in 1897. She was 378 feet long, displacement was 12,532 tons. She carried 4 12-inch guns, 16 6-inch, 4 3-pounders and 5 torpedo tubes.

RUSSIANS CAPTURE AN ARMENIAN TOWN BESIEGED BY KURDS

Russian Detachment Comes to Relief of Persecuted Armenians—Turk Forces Retreat.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Tiflis, Transcaucasia, May 23, via Petrograd and London, May 24.—A detachment of Russian soldiers has occupied the town of Van in Asiatic Turkey, thus bringing relief to the Armenians who were being besieged by the Turks and Kurds. Upon the advent of the Russians, the Turks retreated in the direction of Bitlis.

Van in Turkish Armenia, and Urmiyah in Persia, have been the scene of Armenian and several attacks on Armenians by Turks and Kurds for several months.

The situation became so serious the powers of Europe protested to Turkey, saying the Turkish officials would be held personally responsible.

CANAL ZONE FRAUD CASES ARE STARTED

Col. Goethals Is Important Witness Against Men Charged With Conspiracy in Transactions With Commissary.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

New York, May 24.—Major General George W. Goethals, chairman of the Panama canal commission, one of the most important witnesses, was summoned today at the beginning of a series of trials growing out of the transactions of John Burke of Indianapolis, manager of the canal zone department of the Panama Canal Zone. The trial was set for hearing in the federal court before Judge Pollock.

The government, it was stated, planned to separate Burke's case from those against merchants with whom he is charged with conspiracy to defraud the government. This would postpone his trial until the other cases have been disposed of.

The first case on the calendar is that of Jacob Salas, tobacco merchant with Burke to obtain contract to furnish tobacco used in the Canal Zone, in which Salas is alleged to have paid Burke $28,200.

The other merchants indicted with Burke, alleged to have paid Burke $2,500 for contract to supply sugar and Robert Wilson, commission merchant, is alleged to have paid Burke $400 for privilege of supplying kerosene oil used in the Canal Zone.

MENACE OF VOLCANO DRIVES OUT FARMERS

Refugees From Hot Creek Valley in Shadow of Lassen Peak, Permanently Abandon Their Homes.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Redding, Calif., May 24.—The farms burned by the eruption of Lassen Peak, are under a thick layer of volcanic ash, which has solidified into an impenetrable mass. Refugees from Hot Creek Valley said today they had no intention for the present, at least, of returning to their homes. The men said the volcano, they said, made life too precarious in the valley.

Heavy Lumber Loss. Redding, May 24.—Several million feet of standing lumber has been destroyed by the volcanic discharges of Lassen Peak, according to the report of forest ranger Fred Seborn, whose night ride through Hot Creek Valley Thursday to rouse the sleeping ranchers, saw them then flee before the devastating flood of mud.

Trains in Ash Storm. Oakland, Calif., May 24.—Two western Pacific overland trains which arrived here last night were covered with ashes and films of mud thrown up by Lassen Peak. Members of the crew reported the first notice of the ashes was near Winnemucca, Nevada, nearly 200 miles east of Lassen. When 100 miles from the mountain, they said the train was enveloped in an ash cloud and forced to decrease its speed because the headlights could not penetrate it.

ITALIAN AMBASSADOR AT WASHINGTON NOTIFIES DEPARTMENT OF WAR

Washington, D. C., May 24.—Count di Cellerio, Italian ambassador, formally notified the state department today on behalf of his government, of a state of war between Italy and Austria. President Wilson will issue another proclamation later.

FRENCH BALK NEW ATTACK IN FLANDERS

GERMANS USE POISONOUS GASES AGAIN IN YPRES BATTLE, BUT MEET A REVERSE.

SHORTEN GERMAN LINE

London Reports That Germans Are Withdrawing Troops to Fight Italians—Lorraine Capture Decisive Victory.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Paris, May 24.—French war office today gave out the following report: "At several points between Steenstraet and Ypres, the enemy yesterday delivered attacks after having made use of asphyxiating gases. These attacks were repulsed.

"In the region of Arras, fighting continued all night long. We took 120 prisoners at a point in the north of the village of Neuville. The enemy delivered several counter attacks, but were checked by our artillery, the artillery engagements being continued with intensity.

"Further reports received describe strikingly the extent of the check ministered to the Germans in this region, during the evening of May 22 and 23. In view of the numerous reinforcements brought forward with all speed and the vigor of the fresh attacks, repeated two or three times, the enemy failed in every one of his efforts, and suffered considerable losses.

Shorten German Line in West? London, May 24.—Although not confirmed from an official source, reports published here that the Germans, faced with Italy as a new foe in the south, will have to shorten her line, and that consequently she is preparing to withdraw her men from the advanced line in Flanders, reported evacuation of Bruges is said to be part of this movement.

Lorraine Capture Important. Paris, May 24.—The capture of French troops of the German works at Blanche Voie (the white way) the evening of May 21, marked the victory of the French over the Germans in the Lorraine campaign. The capture of this strategic point in the report of the French semi-official eye witness of conditions at the front as given out today.

Lorraine is a word which for the last six months has appeared often in the correspondence of the German soldiers. The imperial general staff regarded it as of great importance to the possession of this strategic point, the German soldiers have received a formal order which was so expressed as to make it imperative until the last man was killed.

"In spite of the unusual difficulties of the ground and the desperate resistance of the enemy, we triumphed. The battle of Lorraine was a great battle and ended in complete victory. In this part of the front, fighting has been going on uninterruptedly since October, 1914.

Thousands Sacrifice Lives. "Thousands of dead testified to the desperate nature of the contest," the eye witness goes on today. "Facing the French was a formidable organization of machine guns, reinforced by sacks of earth and covered by further protected by double and triple system of barbed wire entanglements and other defenses, the whole protected by a heavy fire of machine guns. At various points heavy artillery carefully concealed, had been placed.

"To overcome these obstacles, we carefully prepared our attack, multiplying our trenches and placing our heavy artillery in the rear.

"The division charged with the attack on Lorraine, comprised three regiments of infantry and three battalions of chasseurs.

German on Defensive. Petrograd, May 23, via London, May 24.—The Austro-German forces in Galicia have now assumed the defensive and their active operations consist chiefly of counter attacks, according to official statement issued last night from headquarters of the Russian general staff. Slight progress has been made on the left bank of the lower San and the claim is made that all assaults by Austro-German troops in southeastern theatre of operations were repulsed.

German "White Book." Berlin wireless to Sayville, May 24.—The German government has published a white book concerning the warfare of civilian population of Belgium hostilities which included the shooting of troops, the throwing of boiling water, maiming of wounded and assassination of officers in their quarters at night time. All classes of the population including clergymen, women and children participated in this aggression. The signal for the beginning of the fight was given by church bells. Of German measures at Louvain and other Belgian towns were only for the purpose of suppressing these attacks.

LIMA BREEDER HEADS COUNTY STOCK BODY

JAMES VAN ETTA SELECTED SAT-URDAY AS FIRST PRESIDENT OF NEW BETTER STOCK ASSOCIATION.

HELD A BIG MEETING

One Hundred Present at Fair Grounds
Here and Organization is Given Good Impetus.

COUNTY BREEDERS' OFFICERS.
President—James Van Etta,
Lima.
Vice-president—George Hemingway, Hanover.
Secretary—John H. Fisher, Janesville.
Treasurer—Jay I. Greene,
Clinton.
Corresponding Secretary—W.
J. McDowell, Janesville.

Rock county live stock breeders to the number of one hundred, on Saturday completed the tentative organization of a County Stock Breeders' association. The meeting was held at the fair grounds during the afternoon and was addressed by men well known for their interest and work in the project of educating Wisconsin farmers in the breeding of pure blood live stock.
G. C. Humphrey of the state association of breeders was the first speaker of the meeting of the afternoon which was held in formal hall as the weather outside was more or less chilly. Mr. Humphrey in a short and concise address showed the farmers many advantages possible through the raising of stock. He cited the instance of the Waukesha county organization which from a small and insignificant beginning have grown to be the leading lights of the United States in their respective specialties.
Waukesha county, he said, is no better endowed with advantages for taking the premier honors in stock raising than Rock county, but has done so to date because Waukesha county was organized. In organization he said, he saw many advantages over a hit and miss system as he termed the endeavor of the farmer at the present.
With organization he held that Rock county and the Rock county organization could take a place among the better stock growing sections and among men well known for their efforts to raise their stock to the highest standards. He showed by the highest standards that the return from Rock county both in stock and agricultural products could be increased materially. With organization he held that the agument and held up the banner of the state and drew the contrast that while this county was blessed with ideal soil and other geological features which are better adapted Rock solely because of better organization which introduced more twentieth century methods to its members.
The speaker ended his discourse with the hope that those present would see their way clear to complete the organization.

James Van Etta, who was appointed chairman of the committee to arrange for the forming of a county stock meeting held at the court house here a month ago, presided at the gathering on Saturday. Mr. Van Etta among the leaders in the new class in breeding circles of the northwest.

Dr. A. S. Alexander of the University of Wisconsin was the next speaker. He related further the interests of strong organization and had much to say relative to good horse breeding. According to the Madison man the consumption of horses in Europe at the present time is above all imagination. Following the war he held that the nations of Europe would have to look to the United States for their horses and mares. The average life of an army horse just at the present time is four days. Six thousands are being killed each twenty-four hours. At this rate, if the war continues good American horses at the close of hostilities will bring enormous prices.
Dr. Alexander paid fitting tribute to the McLaughlin brothers, the Galbraiths and other pioneer horse breeders of the county. He cited their successes and held that many more such were possible through organization.

Following Dr. Alexander's address the tenor of the meeting was the organization of a County Live Stock Breeders' association. The officers selected are listed above. Following is a list of the charter members of the body:

Dr. Alexander in his address suggested that community meetings be held throughout the county for the purpose of furthering the organization. Officers of the organization suggestion good and already thought the have yet been made for future meetings. It is expected that some will be possible for members to attend without interfering with their regular farm duties.
During the early part of the meeting of the stockmen, Prof. John L.
Torrey of the university animal husbandry department was demonstrating to the boys the methods of judging draft horses, cattle, sheep and swine.
More boys were present during the afternoon than during the morning session.

ORFORDVILLE WOMAN
GIVEN FOUR MONTHS
FOR SHOP-LIFTING

Gets Seventy-Five Dollar Fine or Jail Sentence on Plea of Guilty to Stealing $6 Worth of Goods.

Mrs. Nellie Olson, wife of Simon
Olson, of Orfordville, age 48 years, was sentenced for four months in the county jail, under the commitment law, in the municipal court this morning, for stealing two garments from the Golden Eagle on Saturday night, the total value of which amounted to six dollars. When arraigned, she was crying with tears. Her husband and one of her two sons were in the court room.

The woman was arrested Saturday night by Patrolman Charles Harmon at the Baker drug store, where the officer watched her steal two cigars from the counter, before he made the arrest. She was noticed at the Golden Eagle clothing store by one of the employees and when she left was followed by the officer and a clerk.
When it was ascertained that she was the right party the officer went to take her into custody and she resisted. At the station she was arrested and gave her name as Johnson. In the pocket of her coat, a silk waist, valued at $2.50 was found and in her clothing she unearthed a skirt valued at $3.50 and two bottles of liquor, one of which was well drained. The police reported that she was somewhat under the influence of liquor and she admitted that she had drunk. It was also declared that she was a frequent user of intoxicating liquors.
She was also declared that she was dedicated to the use of tobacco and when questioned why she stole the cigars at Baker's, she answered, "To satisfy my habit." She was lodged at the city hall woman's cell and here she remained until taken to court this morning, her meals being brought to her.

Complaint was made by Chief Champion, as the store owners did not care to sign the legal papers.
Mrs. Olson pleaded guilty and her husband did not offer any solution further than to say that this was the first time it was known to him, that she was ever guilty of stealing. The maximum penalty for the offense as related by the court, for this offense, to the value of twenty dollars, is a hundred dollar fine or six months in the jail. The court pronounced the punishment of a seventy-five dollar fine, default of which would mean four months in jail.

The woman has the appearance of being a hard working person and on her plea of guilty, she was sentenced to adjourn the case until District Attorney Dunwiddie appeared, as he was in Beloit today before the municipal court prosecuting a case, but it was declined.

THREE SATURDAY NIGHT
DRUNKS BEFORE COURT

Three men appeared before the municipal court this morning to answer the charges of intoxication, resulting from an over indulgence of demon rum on Saturday night. Bradley Lawrence, who is barely twenty one years of age, drew a total sen-ence of forty days, ten of which were flat, and the other thirty days in default of a twenty-five dollar fine.
William Boyle, a country ridge builder, pleaded guilty to being drunk and disorderly and was fined ten dollars and costs, which he paid.
Joe McCoy, a farm hand, was given twenty days in default of a fine of fifteen and costs. "I have seen him on the streets in a half drunken condition much that I got sick of looking at him," declared Chief Champion, when the court was asking for information regarding the defendant.

GET RID OF HUMORS

Hood's Sarsaparilla is the Medicine to Take—Makes Pure Blood.
Dry, moist, scaly tetter, pimples, boils, and other eruptions come from humors, which may be either inherited, or acquired through defective digestion and assimilation.
To treat these eruptions with drying medicines is dangerous.
Hood's Sarsaparilla, the old reliable medicine, helps the system to discharge the humors, and improves the digestion and assimilation.
Get Hood's Sarsaparilla from your druggist. It may be confidently relied upon to do its work. It purifies the blood, tones the stomach, and builds up the whole system. It goes to the roots of diseases, and its beneficial results are permanent. It sets things to rights in the system. Remember to ask for Hood's Sarsaparilla, because nothing else acts like it and nothing else can take its place.

INITIATION SUNDAY
BY THE HIBERNIANS

Anniversary is Held at Eagles' Hall,
When Ladies' Auxiliary Degree Team Exemplified the Work.

A most successful initiation was held by the Ancient Order of Hibernians and Ladies' Auxiliary Sunday afternoon at the Eagles' and adjoining halls. Many out-of-town visitors were present, eighteen ladies from Madison attending besides Dr. J. V. McKee, state vice president, and Charles Coyne and others.
The Ladies' Auxiliary degree team exemplified work for the first time, and they are to be congratulated for carrying on the procedure in an excellent manner. Rev. Dean Reilly spoke of the noble work the order has accomplished since their organization 31 years ago. The occasion yesterday was an anniversary in honor of the 31 years of service.
Dr. J. V. McKee of Madison, gave an address, his discourse being followed by short talks by Mrs. Lavin, Mrs. Moran and Miss Deane of Madison. The talks by the women were in connection with the Ladies' Auxiliary.
Mrs. L. J. Cronin, state president of the Auxiliary, made a few remarks, as did Charles Coyne and J. P. Hetherington. J. J. Cunningham of this city also was one of the speakers. Charles Newton acted as toastmaster. Ice cream and cake were served.

Millie of the Gods Grind Slowly.
"Well, yes," said the landlord of the Pruntytown tavern. "Lester Poppen-dick was a fugitive from justice for nearly twenty years, but Nemesis, as the feller called it, overtook him at last. He came home to attend the funeral of a relative that he figured ad heired him something in his will,
and was promptly captured and married by the lady he had rescued from drowning just before he ran away."—

Wonderful Books.
Except a living man, there is nothus, vivify us, teach us, comfort us, open their hearts to us as brothers.—

Remarkable Double Tree.
There is said to be in Kentucky a tree bearing each year a crop of walnuts and a crop of mulberries; and the curious phenomenon is accounted for by the supposition that a mulberry seed fell where a walnut lay in the ground, and the young shoots came up side by side and united their forces into one solid trunk. This supposition seems feasible from the fact that the bark of the tree is on one side that of walnut and on the other that of the mulberry.

necessity for wearing such a useless thing," she will understand by this that you wish her husband's death.

AMATEUR ATHLETICS IN SQUABBLE AGAIN

Selection of Officials for Coming Championship Games Creates Str in World of Sports.

By Hal Sheridan.

New York, May 24.—Athletes connected with the Amateur Athletic Union are discussing the recent action of the Intercollegiate A. A. A. Union in selecting officials for the coming championship games to be held at Franklin Field, Philadelphia. Some of the comment is rather severe on the A. A. A. authorities, for the members of the A. A. A. Union are greatly stirred over the matter.

The reason given by the Intercollegiate association for not inviting any Amateur Athletic officials is that the A. A. A. desires to bring back as many old college athletes as possible and therefore wants them to serve as officials to keep their interest alive. And they say it has been definitely decided that in the future only college men will be on the official Intercollegiate list.

And unless some change is made in this announced policy the big games in the future will miss the old time amateur sportsmen, who have been connected with every I. A. A. A. championship as far back as memory serves. To shut out these prominent sportsmen who are so closely identified with amateur sports in this country seems as if the Intercollegiate can but lose by it.

Both the Intercollegiate and Amateur Athletic people deny there is any fight in the move, but it came as a sudden surprise to the Amateur men who had not a whisper of it until after the invitation for the coming games was sent out.

Naturally Amateur Athletic officials are silent. They say they will make no statements. But the unheralded strengthening of the impression that the cordial feeling so long existing between them has been shifted.

The "fring" of all outside sportsmen as officials in championship college games will mean the loss to intercollegiate meets of the services of men who have been identified with these games for many seasons. And it is

TWO CHICAGO NINES ARE IN FIRST PLACE

Both Cubs and Sox Go Into Top Position Saturday by Dual Victory.

By Hal Sheridan.

Chicago, May 24.—The Chicago White Sox and Chicago Cubs, the two teams which have been leading the National League, both won today, Saturday, May 23, in a game of perfect execution and of the most intense situations. The battle was close, but it was only through stellar defense and offense work that the Sox downed the Red Sox.

For three innings the teams battled on even terms. In the fourth J. Collins doubled and scored him on a single. Schalk hit scoring him on a single. Two more runs came in the fifth when Collins singled, and his flashy namesake scored from second. In the sixth the Red Sox made a vicious attack, scored two, and suppressed when Weaver grabbed on a sensational play, nailing Speaker at home.

Cubs Ambitious.
Boston, May 24.—Sunday the Cubs were idle, but the jump to first place brought forth the ambition to win the league pennant. By defeating Boston, the Cubs went into the lead. The added Saturday Chicago plays Boston today and the jump to Philadelphia for three games, which will do much in deciding their hold on the top as the Philadelphia team is second.

CARDS DEFEAT FORT ATKINSON NINE, 7-6

JANESVILLE CARDINALS TAKE FIRST GAME OF SEASON IN CLOSE CONTEST.

BUTTERS HURLS GOOD

"Cuddy" Butters Pitches for Six Innings and Shows Fort Play-ers Some Classy Twirling.

Luck and the break of the game, brought victory for the Janesville Cardinals in their first game Sunday afternoon when they defeated the Fort Atkinson Crescents by a score of seven to six, giving the Janesville team a good start toward a good season. The game Sunday appeared both lost and won at regular intervals and while the battle was not quite edged baseball, it sufficed to satiate the craving, appetite of about three hundred hungry fans.

The Cardinals in their present lineup show the making of a winning team with a little more polish in the form of practice and the best feature of the whole affair was the best feature of "Cuddy" Butters. Butters went to the mound in the fourth inning, and went along a bumping in the eighth, showing them a good array of slants, mixed with his old-time speed, and best of all control. He fanned eight men and but for a couple of short and third, he would have escaped unscathed by any runs.

In the first inning, the Cardinals jumped on the celebrated Johnson for a bevy of safe walks. Berger led off with a single, but two bases, on the second ball pitcher Ryan dumped over a neat single. Ryan was out when Butters hit to short and Berger landed on third. Croak came up with a very club of murderous proportions and laced out a single that sent Berger and Butters home. Johnson hit Hall and Nehr, landed on first and the Fort shortstop "waddled" in the next inning, grounded. Chamberlain hit a long fly which scored Croak. Johnson fanned.

In the second, the Crescents, with May at bat, started with a single and Butters caught a line fly off the bat of Krutz. Nehr dropped a throw and May was able to score. Hall showed his arm was still good by snipping Krutz trying to steal second. Johnson was lucky in the next inning, when a long fly off Butters' bat, caught three men gathered in, with Dickerson waiting at second.

The Fort Atkinson team forged one run ahead in the third when Kinnings hit safely and Berger dropped an easy fly from Johnson. Chamberlain hit Mueller, putting two on the bases. Ryan pegged out the next batter at first and Salt struck out, making a hairs look brighter. Then May—the trouble maker—waddled out single that counted two. An error scored the other tally.

The Cardinals hit Johnson effectively for the next three innings, but until the sixth could not put the markers across. When Butters went to pitch in the fourth, he was greeted by a big applause and in the way of appreciation, he fanned the next two batters up and forced the third to lay down an easy out to Ryan. In the sixth the first two batters hit puny rollers in front of the plate and were easy outs. Butters, the next batter fanned on three pitched balls and Butters retired the side on five pitched balls.

With the Crescents one run to the good, Manager Caldwell pulled a little of the "Stallings ginger-up" and ordered a few runs. The Cards promptly went out and produced the runs in the sixth. Nehr singled for a starter and "Cuddy" Butters broke the game with a safe poke and M. Ryan had patience to wait for a walk. With the bases full, Dickerson did the heavy lifting and fanned, but Berger came through with the necessary hit that counted two at the home station, again putting the Cardinals in the lead.

Here and There.

The number present in the big grand stand, despite the threatening skies, gives confidence that the Cardinals will have plenty of support this year. A little strengthening in the infield and a good slicker to plug one of the outergardens, and the Cards will be ready to meet all comers on the diamond.

Manager Caldwell will improve the diamond by skinning the grass back twenty more feet, moving the infield and by removing the array of lumber that came "near" costing Nehr his neck in going after a short foul.

It was a gliding sight to see Butters heaving them across with dazzling speed and more than one Fort batter stretched too far to connect with the breakers. He failed to show his old fault of wildness and looked good for many a game this summer.

Footville may be the next victims of the Cardinals the coming Sunday if the game can be arranged.

The juveniles were in their glory, as they were allowed in gratis and they made the most of it.

A lucky throw when Dickerson hit a pop fly to Johnson and Hall was caught off second.

Butters fied out his last four times.

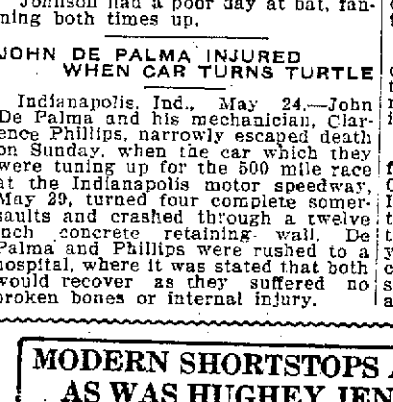

Two of them were rollers, and Johnson had a poor day at bat, fanning both times up.

JOHN DE PALMA INJURED WHEN CAR TURNS TURTLE

Indianapolis, Ind., May 24.—John De Palma and his mechanical car, Clarence Phillips, narrowly escaped death on Sunday when the car which they were tuning up for the 500 mile race at the Indianapolis motor speedway, May 29, turned four complete somersaults and crashed through a twelve inch concrete retaining wall. De Palma and Phillips were rushed to a hospital, where it was stated that both would recover as they suffered no broken bones or internal injury.

MODERN SHORTSTOPS ARE NOT AS TRICKY AS WAS HUGHEY JENNINGS, SAYS HANLON

MORRIS MILLER

Johnny Griffiths probably isn't worrying very much because the Memphis sport scribes questioned the referee's action in giving the Akron flash a victory over Joe Mandot in their recent eight-round affair. For just as likely as not it will result in Johnny and Joe being re-matched for a longer fight at New Orleans, or possibly a July Fourth attraction elsewhere. At that the chances are the milling was pretty close. Granting that both boys were on edge. It would be hard for either one to turn out a decisive win in such a short mill. Ringside reports, though, credit Griffith with the majority of the rounds, and comment favorably on his speed and lightning left.

Harry Vaughn, variety end at Yale in 1909 and 1910, who coached the Ohio State football team in 1912, has been selected to succeed "Skip" Wymard as football coach at Fordham college. Vaughn was chosen as all-American end in 1910. In 1913 he was assistant coach at Yale, while last year he was coaching the Navy ends. Vaughn didn't work wonders with his material at Ohio State.

Joseph J. Lannin, the genial owner of the Boston Red Sox, is surely a prince of his ball players. On Sunday not long ago, the Red Sox had an off day. They were in New York and looked forward to a dreary and long drawn out Sabbath. But Lannin surprised 'em. He took the whole crowd over to his hotel on Garden City hotel on Long Island. There he feasted them on the best of the Red Sox. Then he gave them auto rides, golf parties and a general good time. Some club owner is Joseph J.

Two springs ago baseball writers of the coast were asking Fournier the following questions: "Would you like to play out here if the Sox let you go?" Nowadays, in the major league cities, baseball writers are hurling the following queries at the patient slugger: "Do you mind giving us a short sketch of your life?" "How does it seem to be the league's leading batter?" "What do you think of the White Sox chances in the race this year?"

Looking over the statistics of the freshman physical examination at Cornell one would wonder where the athletes got their crews, cross-country and track men. It was found in the last examination that 863 of the yearlings have functional spinal curvatures, 441 wear eye-glasses, 125 suffer from goiter and 826 have weak arches of the feet. As the class is Word comes from Buffalo that the Federal league club of that burg—supposed to be one of the strongest props of the circuit, financially—wants either quick assistance or a transfer. And the Kansas City Feds are reported as again listed with the speedy aid or a new location. Baseball in 1915 has few gold mines and lots of shafts plum full of iron pyrites.

When Charley Herzog of the Reds shook hands with Armando Marsans in the court room at St. Louis recently he informed the scribes that all would be forgiven and that a welcome would be extended to the Cuban when ever he decided to return to the Reds. Those who have seen Leach, Kilfler and Griffith working in the Red outfit, however, rather think Herzog was talking for publication only. Marsans, after a year's layoff, might improve that outfield, but it is doubtful.

CHARGE BELOIT MAN WITH WHITE SLAVERY

Leon Lighthart Arraigned Before S. D. Tallman for Alleged Violation of Federal Mann Act.

On the complaint of August Hoppman, assistant United States attorney of Madison, Leon Lighthart of Beloit was arraigned before Stanley Tallman, United States court commissioner, late this afternoon, on the charge of violating the federal Mann act or "white slavery." Lighthart waived his right to a preliminary examination and in default of other surety a $10,000 bond was committed to the county jail of Dane county, where he was taken by United States Marshal Flint, immediately after the proceedings before the court commissioner. The warrant charges that Lighthart transported or aided in transporting a Beloit girl named Ruth Johnson of Shirland, on the train to the town of Beloit, and that he is expected to be brought before the United States district court at Madison in the near future to make a plea to this serious charge. Chief Tallman said several days ago received a letter from Chief Qualman of Beloit regarding the pair and it said they were arrested in Madison. The girl is under twenty years of age.

MRS. E. GLEN OWEN DIES ON SATURDAY

Diabetes Proves Fatal to Janesville Resident After Long Illness. Leaves Husband and Two Sons.

After an illness of a year and four months with diabetes, during which time the patient suffered considerably, Mrs. E. Glen Owen passed quietly away Saturday morning at her home, 1014 Mineral Point avenue, at the age of 43 years. Her illness had kept her confined to her home only at brief intervals. Her last severe illness lasting only a few days. Anna Eliza Peters was born October 18, 1872, at New Durham, N. H. She came to Janesville, Wis., in 1900, where she has since resided. She was married to E. Glen Owen, October 6, 1895, at Sac City, Iowa, by Rev. Hugh Hay. Two sons were born to this union, the eldest, Myrl K., and Wayne A. Owen, both of whom are left with their father, who is engaged in the copper cable business in this city. The deceased also leaves a father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. A. Peters, and one sister, Mrs. Emmet Eldridge, all of Sac City, Iowa. Mrs. Owen was a devoted member of the Carle Methodist church, being a member of the chorus choir. She was also a member of the Rebekah lodge No. 171 of this city. Her duties in the church were not few, and she was held in high esteem by her many friends and acquaintances. Her death comes as a shock to her family and to the entire community. The funeral will be held at three o'clock Tuesday afternoon at three o'clock at the home, 1014 Mineral Point avenue, by Rev. T. D. Williams of the Methodist church. Interment will be made in Oak Hill cemetery.

COMMERCIAL CLUB DIRECTORS HELD USUAL MONDAY MEETING

A letter of appreciation from President Daland of Milton college for the prizes furnished by the Commercial club for the short course held by the agricultural department of the university last March, was read by secretary McDowell at the meeting today. The question of a new location for the club again came up for consideration and was laid over another week. The traffic committee, J. K. Jensen, chairman, made a report on the activity of that section of the club. A goodly number of freight claims have been collected thus far this year and a considerable list is in the secretary's hands. A very flattering review of the manufacturers' and shippers' ideas of the value of this department was given by Mr. Jensen. The secretary gave a report of the condition of the club finances and an estimate of yearly expenses to be used as an estimate in figuring out the activities of the association in connection with the new location. Next Monday being Decoration Day the directors will meet on Tuesday instead.

BATTLE TO TIE IN GAME AT HARMONY SUNDAY

Janesville Delivery System has a newly organized baseball team. Not being afraid of tackling a hard proposition in their first contest of the season, they journeyed to Harmony yesterday afternoon to meet the Sluggers of that place. They came home satisfied that they have a good team, and every time the Sluggers scored, they scored the game ending in a tie, 15 to 15. The game was called to allow the teams to seek shelter to avoid a drenching. The lineups were as follows:

Delivery Team—B. Cutts, c.; Foley, n.; Walker, 1b.; Boppe, ss.; Kimball, 2b.; McKinney, 1b.; Gannon, cf.; Cutts, rf.

Harmony—T. Waldman, c.; Wright, p.; Van Hise, ss.; Broese, 1b.; Fullmer, 2b.; Conwarty, 3b.; Waldman, 1b.; Flannery, cf.; Scott, rf.

TWO SMALL BOYS FOUND BY POLICE ON SATURDAY

CHARGE WOMAN WITH MURDERING OWN SON

Mrs. Weidick Goes On Trial in Milwaukee For Strangling Six Year Old Son in Horrible Manner.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Milwaukee, Wis., May 24.—Mrs. Susie Weidick, who admitted strangling her six-year-old son, Adam, went on trial in circuit court here today, charged with first degree murder. While the general belief in court circles is that the woman is sane now, the act attributed to her is so unnatural it is probable that a commission may be appointed to investigate her general mental condition.

According to her confession, Mrs. Weidick's husband deserted her several months ago and left her practically destitute. She was compelled to depend upon her meagre wages in a rag factory and to support herself and her two little sons, Adam and Johnny, aged three. She became so hopeless that she decided to end her own and her children's lives, she said.

Evening of May 2, in from play the boy by the neck and choked him into insensibility, according to her confession. To make sure of her work she used a piece of wire. His struggles had so unnerved her that she was unable to carry out her program of death. She carried the boy back into the alley in back of her home and propped him against a telephone pole. Later she informed the police that her boy was "lost."

The boy's body which had lain all night in a rain was found early next morning. The afternoon, despite her protestations, Mrs. Weidick was arrested on suspicion. The boarder, Steve Goble, also was arrested.

Mrs. Weidick was not permitted to see her son's body. She suffered a nervous breakdown and was removed to a hospital. Three days after she said she killed her boy, the funeral was held and she was permitted to see her son's body.

With the red mark around his throat had the effect the police anticipated. A few hours later she is alleged to have made a full confession.

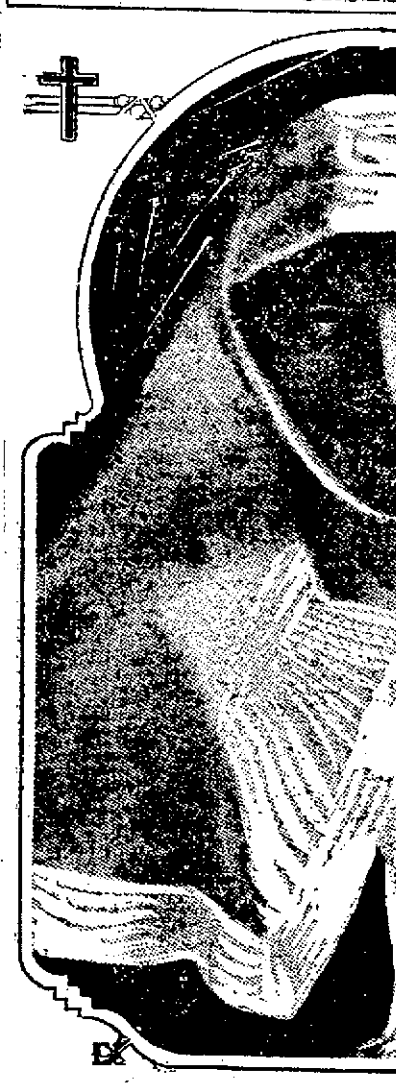

Mrs. Weidick was able to employ counsel and Judge Backus, who will try the case, appointed Attorney A. J. Schmitz to represent her. The prosecution will be conducted by District Attorney Zabel.

Miss Meriel Buchanan.

Miss Meriel Buchanan is the only daughter of the British ambassador at the court of Petrograd, Sir George Buchanan. Her mother, formerly Lady Georgiana Meriel Bathurst, is a sister of the present Earl Bathurst, whose wife owns the London Morning Post. Miss Buchanan, who is not yet twenty, wrote a novel two years ago called "White Witch." She is taking a great interest in the British hospital in Petrograd, where she goes daily to nurse wounded Russian soldiers.

ITALIANS IN STATES CALLED TO COLORS

Many Sons of Sunny Italy in Janesville Ready to Respond to War on Austria.

News that Italy had declared war spread like wildfire through Janesville Italian colonies this morning. The declaration filled all expectations of native sons who had been following the course of diplomatic relations between Italy and Austria since the hostilities first began.

Italian papers are printing calls to arms. All Italians, whether naturalized or not, and even those born in America of Italian parents, are called upon by the messages to join the Italian army.

St. Paul, Minn., the Italian consul general in New York city, and so is addressed to all men between the ages of 19 and 38, inclusive. The Italian call is immediately heeded. Disregard of it means punishment by imprisonment if the recalcitrant returns at any time to Italy.

Quite a number of local Italians are ready to depart for home if arrangements can be made for their going. Some this morning were of the opinion that by going to their country's consul at that point they could furnish them with transportation to Europe and then in some manner they would attempt to evade the German blockade and get back to Italy.

SOLDIERS IN HOSPITALS WHO LOST AN ARM ARE BEING TRAINED

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Paris, May 24.—Soldiers in hospitals of the Somme, who have lost an arm, are being trained in the use of the remaining member by Leon Coblenz of Abbeville, who, during thirty-five years experience, has developed a marvelous dexterity with one arm.

Coblenz lost his arm in a railroad accident. Little by little, he became able to dress himself, make his toilet, lace his shoes, tie his cravat, peel fruit, do his own gardening and trim his own finger nails. He swims, rides a bicycle, plays the piano and has a license as a conductor of a motor-car. Now he is spending his time in the hospitals wherever there are convalescents lacking an arm, showing them how they can get along in life nearly as well as if they had two.

"THE SPOILERS" MADE BIG HIT AT MYERS

Return Engagement of Wonderful Photoplay Packs House at All Performances.

What was said in the columns of the Gazette last September regarding the engagement of "The Spoilers" at the Myers Theatre, may well stand for the same picture which appeared here in a special return engagement Saturday and Sunday and is therefore reproduced again.

"It would not be exaggerating to the slightest extent to say that 'The Spoilers' in photoplay form at the Myers Theatre is the best thing of its kind ever brought to Janesville."

"Those who know the story realize what excellent material there is for a film story when properly handled, and in this instance the correct spirit of the Rex Beach novel has been grasped. There are stirring scenes in quick succession and all are well acted."

"William Parnum realizes magnificently the rough nobility and elemental force of the hero, Glonsky, and finds an admirable foil in Thomas Santsch's cold, calculating, determined Montgomery and in W. H. Ryno's despicable Survo. Kathryn Williams is most appealing in the well drawn character of the impulsive dance hall girl, jealous, loyal, self-sacrificing, and Bessie Eyton is equally attractive and convincing as the girl from the states, who is the unconscious tool of the scoundrels. Jack McDonald conducts the rough comedy by his mere appearance as 'Sian' Jack, a miner and Wheeler Oakman is true to type as Broncho Kid, a refined boy gone wrong."

HAVE A WHOLE HEART.

Don't you hate half-heartedness? I do. Half a loaf may be better than none, but half a heart is worse than none.

I like people who do whatever they are doing, whether it's playing a game, working for a cause, planting a garden, or welcoming a guest, heartily, with the whole heart, people who having put their hands to the plough, go ahead and plough, and don't keep stopping to wonder whether they ought not to be doing something else.

It's often better not to do a thing at all than to do it half heartedly.

Don't Give With Half a Heart.

A gift of a sacrifice made half-heartedly loses at least half its value.

A mother who had always hated pets finally gave her daughter permission to have a kitten. The child was delighted but she soon found that the concession had been made half heartedly and that it included constant blame when the kitten acted as kittens always do.

Your kitten has knocked my spoon off the windowsill and tangled it up. Your kitten is lying on the new couch cover, etc., etc. Being a sensitive, nervous child, her joy in the kitten was blighted by the atmosphere of constant disapproval. Wouldn't it have been almost as well for the mother not to have given her consent as to have given it in that grudging, half-hearted way?

Don't Enjoy With Half a Heart.

If you grasp a pleasure, grasp it with all your heart. I once went on a pleasure trip with a party of one of whose members had had qualms about leaving her work. I say "one" but I should not put it in that tense for she still had them, and took them with her on the whole trip.

Her savor of her pleasure, she wasn't wholehearted like the rest of us, we felt it and it was an impalpable but none the less real drawback to the unity of the party. She might better have stayed at home for by going half-heartedly she didn't get the work done and she didn't get half the value she could have from the vacation.

Wholehearted people get the most out of life; they give and receive in large measure, they get the whole of life, not a skimpy half portion.

Sluggishness has a deep undercurrent of meaning beneath its surface crudity. I wonder if "Have a whole heart!" is not a crude way of expressing the deeper thought, "Have a whole heart!"

Questions and Answers.

Question.—At what age do you think a child should be sent to school?

R. A. Reply.—That depends on the child, the school and the home conditions. If you are willing to keep a child with you two or three years after the customary five and teach it a little at home it is usually a good thing. If a child is delicate or of a highly nervous organization the five hours at school is too much at that age. Let him play out of doors even if he does have a few years' head start. Health is more than half the battle.

Heart and Home Problems

Letters May Be Addressed To Mrs. Thompson, in Care of The Gazette.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have been taking a course of gymnasium work from the dearest little teacher in the world. She is not what some people would call beautiful, because her face is not perfect, but to me she is the most beautiful girl in the world. I am a little girl of seventeen. I was not able to go to high school because my health was not good enough, therefore I have very few friends and no boy acquaintances. Now this little teacher has won my love, just as a boy might, but I don't know about her all the time, when I am working, reading, walking, and when I am asleep I dream about her. She does not know of my love, because I am too bashful to tell her. My mother does not know how deeply I care for her, because although I have mentioned her I have never said a word of much she means to me. My course is soon over and the thought that I will not see her after a few weeks makes me desperate. I am a little girl of seventeen. I was not able to go to high school because my health was not good enough, therefore I have very few friends and no boy acquaintances. Talk about things you would not mind having your parents hear and your conversations will be all right. You will have to use your own individuality in choosing topics.

(3) You. (4) Yes.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I had a date with a boy and he didn't keep it. About a week afterward we met downtown and he seemed very glad to see me. He walked back to work with me (it was my noon hour) and asked if he might call the following Wednesday night. I told him I was afraid not, and then he said he was going to phone soon to see when he could come. I am positive that this boy forgot all about the date and even now does not realize what he did. He had called six or seven times before and had not disappointed me. What would you do, let him come again? I like him. LOUISE F.

Let him come.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am in love with a young man, and he loves me also. He is not as well to do as I am and my parents object to him very much. I am not of age yet, and therefore will have to obey them. But I love this fellow very much and would be very sad if I were not allowed to go with him. We write to each other, although I think my mother would be very angry if she knew it. What would you advise me to do? ADELE.

Obey your mother and do not do things she could object to. You will have plenty of time to have your own way when you are of age.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have moles all over my face. Please tell me how to remove them.

THANK YOU.

Have them removed by an electric needle. Be sure to go to a reliable dermatologist so that your face will not be scarred.

Household Hints

PICNIC "EATS."

Ham Sandwiches—Make dressing of half cup butter, one tablespoon mixed mustard, one of salad oil, a little red pepper, pinch of salt and a dash of onion. Rub butter to a cream, add other ingredients and mix thoroughly; then stir in as much chopped ham as will make it consistent, and spread between thin slices of bread.

Chicken Sandwiches—Mince fine any cold boiled or roasted chicken; put it into a sauce pan with gravy, water or cream enough to soften it; add a good piece of butter, a pinch of pepper; work very smooth like a paste. Then spread it on a plate to cool. Spread it between slices of bread.

Cheese Sandwiches—Take one hard-boiled egg, one-fourth pound common cheese grated, half teaspoon salt, half teaspoon pepper, half teaspoon mustard, one tablespoon melted butter, one tablespoon vinegar or cold water. Put yolk of the egg in a small bowl and crumble it down; add the butter and mix it smooth with a spoon, then add salt, pepper, mustard and cheese, mixing each well. Then put in the tablespoon of vinegar, which will make it the proper thickness. Spread this between biscuits or slices of bread, and you could not require a better sandwich.

Egg sandwiches—Hard boil some very fresh eggs; when cold, cut them into moderately thin slices, lay them between some bread and butter cut as thin as possible; season with pepper, salt and nutmeg. For picnics or when one is traveling, these sandwiches are far preferable to hard-boiled eggs.

Peanut Salad—Ground salted peanuts mixed with cream; spread between slices of bread.

Tomato Sandwich—Thinly sliced tomato with mayonnaise.

Sweet Sandwich—Use any tasty jelly, nut meats, dates or figs chopped.

THE TABLE.

A Danish Dinner—Hamburger steak, one pound; potatoes, medium size, three; cabbage, one; celery, two.

her lectures and cookery lessons here next week. There will be no admittance fee and no tickets of any kind will be required.

Miss Peet lectured in Janesville in August, 1913, under the auspices of the Gazette. Since then she has been continuously engaged in the Better Foods Better Homes work so dear to her heart, and has learned many new cookery ideas to present to her classes this season.

The school next week will be educational in character. Miss Peet is a lecturer and teacher of unusual ability.

housekeepers are sure to be pleased with Miss Peet, and she will have something new for them which they will be glad indeed to know about and put into immediate use in their well regulated homes. Miss Peet was chosen by the Gazette to conduct this free short course in Home Economics for the women of Janesville and southern Wisconsin because she is eminently practical, thoroughly experienced and carefully trained. She has travelled extensively in the interest of better foods and better homes.

stalks; carrot, one; butter, one-fourth pound; onion, one. Turn cabbage stem down and cut off upper end for cover. Scoop out inside of cabbage until one-half inch in thickness. Salt inside well. Make hamburger steak into small patties and pack closely in bottom of cabbage. Pare and wash potatoes and cut in small squares. Cut up celery, onion and carrot in the same way. Put vegetables together with frequent sprinklings of salt. When cabbage is full, replace cover. Tie cabbage firmly together with string, cover with udding thoroughly boiling water. Put on platter, remove string and serve with melted butter. A large-sized cabbage will serve six persons.

Household Hints

Tempting Salad—One can sliced pineapple, one can Spanish pimientos, five cents worth salted almonds, five cents worth pecans, one large head lettuce. Place about three lettuce leaves on salad plate, then a slice of pineapple. Cut pimientos in lengthwise strips and arrange crosswise on top. In the small squares thus formed put almonds and pecans, while the ring in the center of the pineapple should be filled with mayonnaise. This will serve eight people.

Snow Custard—Half package gelatin, three eggs, two cups sugar, juice one lemon. Soak gelatin one hour in tepid of cold water, add one pint boiling water, stir until thoroughly dissolved, add two-thirds sugar and lemon juice. Beat whites of the eggs to a stiff froth and when gelatin is quite cold whip it into the whites. Spoonful at a time for last an egg or an hour. Whip steadily and evenly in a dozen egg glasses previously wet with cold water and set in a cold place. In four or five hours turn into a glass dish. Make a custard of one and one-half pints milk, the yolks of eggs and remainder of sugar. Flavor with vanilla and when the meringue is snowball-like turn out of mold, pour this around the base.

Eggs Baked in Milk—Greasen shallow baking dish with butter and pour into it enough milk to well cover the surface of dish. Into this break carefully as many eggs as will be needed, taking pains not to crowd them too closely together. Dust over with a little pepper and salt. Pour over them gently a little more milk, enough to cover them well; set in oven and bake until eggs are firm—the whites and the yolks turned, but not too hard.

Fruit Frappe for Parties—One-half lemon to each person; add water and sugar to taste, as for lemonade; add six bananas cut in small pieces, one pint canned cherries, one pineapple chopped, six oranges cut up and add juice of cherries before adding water. Half of this will serve sixteen persons.

Strawberry Pie—Bake a rich crust, put a layer of canned or crushed strawberries in crust, fill with whipped cream.

Doesn't Pay to Knock Too Hard.

If you knock a man often enough you will make him famous.

NEW SUMMER HAT

Don't be foolish, dear. Dick bent over her earnestly. "Doctor says nearly every one of his patients has expressed disgust over the letter Mrs. Ellison sent, and I do not believe one of them thinks you gave her any grounds to sue for a divorce. You see, knowing the doctor, they could not believe the stories. Mrs. Ellison has shipped what goods she intends to take and is spending Sunday with her friends, so she will be gone when you come back. I have engaged her maid for you when you return."

"I'm almost sorry I dread having her around," said Nell.

"You must get strong; then, if you wish, you can let her go."

"When is the doctor's sister coming?" asked Nell, sitting up.

"Very soon now. Mrs. Parsons is planning a reception for her."

"I am going to ask mother if I may invite the Scotts out. They motor everywhere, and it would be a lark to have them come here and bring the Parsons. It would be great to have a barn dance; hang Japanese lanterns and set the victrola going."

"I do just the same," came half audibly from the hammock. "I probably will not mind it so much after a few days, but the first cold plunge—the sentence trailed off into silence. "After that bath of fire at Gardner," she continued after a pause. "I suppose I should not mind anything else, but I believe it made me thin skinned."

SAYS WAR IS DOOMED
AS HUMANITY'S FOE

AS A FORM OF COMMUNITY MURDER IT IS BECOMING BY-GONE ANTIQUITY SAYS EWING.

MUST CONSERVE LIFE

Sacredness of Human Life Makes Necessary the Development of Positive Side of Sixth Commandment.

"War, as one of the forms of community murder, is doomed. It is the product of hatred, fostered by mutual jealousies and incriminations. As it is a form of community murder, it is a form of homicide. It is a form of homicide which has been a part of the jurisprudence of every country making reference to civilization from ancient times down to the present. As it is simply stated it is a negative law against individual killing. It is a law which it had to be modified. There might be extenuating circumstances which would make the responsible party not culpable. There is accidental killing, and killing in self-defense and various other degrees and distinctions which are made out in law on the subject today.

The cause of murder, however, Ewing went on to explain, is hatred, and the deeper and more premeditated the hatred the more malevolent the crime. With hatred in the heart comes also the desire to kill. It is because of hatred behind murder that the law considers assault with intent to kill a worse offense than some degrees of murder of manslaughter.

"There is also such a thing as community murder," said Mr. Ewing. "And because it is community murder does not make it right. He of Galilee taught against the use of force and urged rather the power of righteousness. We find in Christ no jurisdiction for community murder. Among the forms of community murder is capital punishment which sets forth that there are some crimes which are worthy of death. As now practiced, capital punishment is limited to the crime of murder upon the principle that he who takes a human life must give his own in return. It is a form of punishment which admits of mental ability to deal with crime. It is doomed and it is now fast disappearing."

Mr. Ewing then took up the place of war as community murder, and said: "Let us stand with our feet on the hope for the day and the time when we all will be too proud to fight, when we shall settle our differences and our grievances by some other means than fighting and when we shall cease to stir up racial and national hatreds."

There is also a positive side of the sixth commandment, Rev. Ewing explained, which might be set forth in this way: "Thou shalt preserve life. Such a version of the law means in the first place protection. It means that criminals shall be cared for by segregation rather than capital punishment; that children with criminal tendencies shall be educated and instructed in such a manner that it will be impossible for them to commit crimes."

"Then, too, it is a matter of character and what is needed is conversion. The fact is being forced upon us despite the scoffs and the scornings that rail at conversion as out-fashioned antiquated, that conversion is a mighty influence for making men right with God and their fellow men."

Then the speaker turned to the subject of life carries with it also protection against disease, against accident, against famine and against the laws of nature. All are against the community, the government, is becoming more and more interested, and however radical it may seem, I contend that the time will come when the state will see to it that the most shall be found for every man in order that he may supply the material wants of himself and his family."

In conclusion, Rev. Ewing pointed out the importance of the both versions of the commandment, the positive and the negative, hinged on the one all important fact, the sanctity of human life. The fact that our bodies are the temples for the spirit of divine life, which shall live after the term of probation on this earth, impresses us with the sacredness of human life, that it is not to be taken lightly, but is to be protected and conserved."

DECLINE OF PIG-BREEDING
L REPORTED IN IRELAND

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Dublin, May 24.—The decline of pig-breeding in Ireland, states a report from the Irish Department of Agriculture, is due in large part to the want of "culling according to type" for the animals in the new cottages, and the growing disinclination of laborers' families to look after them. The shrinkage in the number of pigs amounts to twenty per cent.

In Ulster the report states it is the practice to fatten pigs as soon as they are weaned, and by this means three lots of pigs are turned out in a year. In other parts of the country only one lot is marketed in a year.

Orfordville News

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Orfordville, May 21.—Ed Reeder transacted business in Madison on Friday.

W. W. Sainsbury and family of Ripon are spending some time in the village, having motored from the Fond du Lac county city on Wednesday.

E. J. Taylor loaded a car of ear corn on Friday and shipped it to parties at Albany.

The local Odd Fellows will meet on Saturday evening to discuss changes that they are contemplating making in their building. The present plan is to build an addition, approximating seventy feet in length, thus providing them with a large dining room and kitchen. They will also enlarge the store room occupied by C. O. Sperry by taking out the partitions, and will put in a new glass front and a new hardwood floor.

Rev. W. Heyerdahl has engaged with the Rawleigh Medicine company of Freeport, and will go on the road as salesman for their line of remedies.

Original Quarantine.

The term quarantine (literally fortieth) originated during the outbreak of plague in Venice in 1403. The Venetians isolated those who had been exposed to infection for a period of 40 days. The designation stuck, though the period has become elastic since those days.

DOINGS OF THE VAN LOONS—Evidently Father Will Have to Do the Real Looking Himself.

BY P. LEIPZIGER

I USE "TIZ" FOR SORE, TIRED FEET

"TIZ" for puffed-up, aching, sweaty, calloused feet and corns.

Good-bye sore feet, burning feet, swollen feet, sweaty feet, smelling feet, tired feet. Good-bye corns, callouses, bunions and raw spots. No more shoe tightness, no more limping with pain or drawing up your face in agony. "TIZ" is magical, acts right off. "TIZ" draws out all the poisonous exudations which puff up the feet—the only remedy that does. Use "TIZ" and wear smaller shoes. Ah! how comfortable your feet will feel. "TIZ" is a delight. "TIZ" is harmless. Get a 25 cent box of "TIZ" now at any drugist or department store. Don't suffer. Have good feet, glad feet, feet that never swell, never hurt, never get tired. A year's foot comfort guaranteed or money refunded.

To Recover Drowned Bodies. A Canadian scientist suggests that drowned bodies might often be recovered by a method used by Australian poachers in catching fish. The poachers cast into the water a bottle filled with dampened lime and the fish, stupefied by the explosion, are easily gathered up as they float upon the surface.

HOW SHE ENDED TEN YEARS OF SKIN-TORTURE

Oct. 28, 1914.—"I had eczema on my face for ten years. Little red pimples formed in a small spot on my chin and then spread all over my face. They itched and burned me awfully. It was certainly embarrassing to me, and I would not go among people. I tried almost every remedy and treatment that could be used for this trouble, but nothing did me any good. I used Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap, and was relieved in a day or two. In one month I was cured. This was six months ago and the trouble has never returned." (Signed) Mrs. C. C. Roberts, Weatherford, Okla. The Resinol treatment speedily heals eczema, rashes, ringworm, and other eruptions, and clears away disfiguring pimples and blackheads, even when other treatments prove worse than useless. Doctors have prescribed Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap for eighteen years, and all druggists sell them.

A CLEAR COMPLEXION

Ruddy Cheeks—Sparkling Eyes—Most Women Can Have

Says: Dr. Edwards, a Well-Known Ohio Physician.

Dr. F. M. Edwards, for 17 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave to his patients a prescription made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, you will know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter that one's system collects.

If you have a pale face, sallow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results.

Thousands of women, as well as men, take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets now and then just to keep in the pink of condition.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the successful substitute for calomel—10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

A FOOL AND HIS MONEY

She bent her slender body a little toward me, and the red seemed to leap back into her lips as if propelled by magic. Resolutely I put my awkward, ungainly arms behind my back and straightened my figure. I was curiously impressed by the discovery that I was very, very tall and she very much smaller than my memory recorded. Of course I had no means of knowing that she was in bedroom slippers and not in the customary high heeled boots that gave her an inch and a half of false stature.

"Your mother is here," I remarked hurriedly. She glanced toward my bedroom door. "Oh, what a night!" she sighed. "I did all that I could to keep her out of your bed. It was useless. I did cry, Mr. Smart. I know you must hate all of us."

I laughed. "Love thy neighbor as thyself," I quoted. "You are my neighbor, countess. Don't forget that. And it so happens that your mother is also my neighbor at present, and your brothers too. Have you any cousins and aunts?"

"I can't understand how any one can be so good natured as you," she sighed. The crown of her head was on a level with my shoulder. Her eyes were lowered. A faint line of distress grew between them. For a minute I stared down at the brown crest of her head, an almost ungovernable impulse pounding away at my sense of discretion. I do take credit unto myself for being strong enough to resist that opportunity to make an everlasting idiot of myself. I knew even then that if a similar attack ever came upon me again I should not be able to withstand it. All this time she was staring rather pensively at the second button from the top of Poopendyke's coat, and so prolonged and earnest was her gaze that I looked down in some concern, at the same time permitting myself to make a nervous, jerky and quite involuntary digital examination of the aforesaid button. She looked up with a nervous little laugh.

"I shall have to say one on right there for poor Mr. Poopendyke," she said, poking her finger into the empty buttonhole. "You dear hubbards!" Then she turned swiftly away from me and glided over to the big armchair, from the depths of which she fished a small velvet bag. Looking over her shoulder, she smiled at me.

"Please look the other way," she said. Without waiting for me to do so she took out a little gold box, a powder puff and a stick of lip rouge. Crossing to the small Florentine mirror that hung near my desk, she proceeded before my startled eyes to repair the slight—and to me unnoticeable—damage that had been done to her complexion before the sun came up.

"Wuuu works in a mysterious way, my friend, her wonders to perform," she paraphrased calmly.

"No matter how transcendently beautiful woman may be, she always does that sort of thing to herself. I take it," said I.

"She does," said the countess with conviction. She surveyed herself critically. "There! And now I am ready to accept an invitation to breakfast. I am disgustingly hungry."

"And so am I!" I cried with enthusiasm. "Hurray! You shall eat Poopendyke's breakfast just to penalize him for falling in his duds as host during my unavoidable!"

"Quite impossible," she said. "He has already eaten it."

"He has?"

"At half past 6, I believe. He announced at that ungodly hour that if he couldn't have his coffee the first thing in the morning he would be for a headache all day. He suggested that I take a little nap and have breakfast with you—if you succeed in surviving the night."

"Oh, I see," said I slowly. "He knew all the time that you were rapping in that chair, eh?"

"You shall not scold him!" "I shall do even worse than that. I shall pension him for life."

She appeared thoughtful. A little crown of annoyance clouded her brow.

"Be, promised faithfully to arouse me the instant you were sighted on the opposite side of the river. I made him stand in the window with a field-glass. No, on second thought, I shall scold him. If he had come to the door and shouted you wouldn't have caught me in this odious dressing gown. He-le-ne—

"It is most fascinating," I cried. "Adorable! I love filmy, pink things. They're so intimate. And Poopendyke knows it, bless his ingenuous old soul."

I surprised a queer little gleam of inquiry in her eyes. It flickered for a second and died out.

"Do you really consider him an ingenuous old soul?" she asked. And I thought there was something rather metallic in her voice. I might have replied with intelligence if she had given me a chance, but for some reason she chose to drop the subject. "You must be famished, and I am dying to hear about your experiences. You must not omit a single detail. I—"

"There came a gentle, discreet knocking on the half open door. I started. "Come!" I said.

Blatchford gravely swung the door wide open.

"Breakfast is served, sir—your ladyship. I beg pardon."

I have never seen him stand so faultlessly rigid. As we passed him on the way out a mean desire came over me to tread on his toes just as an experiment. Somehow I felt that he would say, "Thank you, sir," and there would be no satisfaction in knowing that he had had all his pains for nothing.

I shall never forget that enchanted breakfast—never! Not that I can recall even vaguely what we had to eat, or who served it, or how much of the naked truth I related to her in describing the events of the night; I can only declare that it was a singularly light hearted affair.

At half past 1 o'clock I was received by Mrs. Titus in my own study. The countess came down from her garret abode to officiate at the ceremonious function—if it may be so styled—and I was agreeably surprised to find my new guest in a most amiable frame of mind. True, she looked me over with what seemed to me an unnecessarily and perfectly frank stare of curiosity, but, on sober reflection, I did not hold it against her. I was still draped in Poopendyke's garments.

At first sight I suppose she couldn't quite help putting me down as one of those literary freaks who typify intellect without intelligence.

As for her two sons, they made no effort to disguise their amusement. (I have a shocking notion that the vowel "u" might be substituted for the "a" in that word without loss of integrity.)

The elder of the two young men, Collingraft Titus, who being in the business with his father in New York was permitted to travel most of the time so that he couldn't interfere with it, was taller than I, and an extremely handsome chap to boot. He was twenty-six. The younger, Jasper junior, was nineteen, short and slight of build, with the merriest eyes I've ever seen. I didn't in the least mind the grin he bestowed upon me—and preserved with stanch fidelity throughout the whole interview—but I resented the supercilious, lordly scorn of his elder brother.

Jasper I learned was enduring a protracted leave of absence from Yale. The hiatus between his freshman and sophomore years already covered a period of sixteen months, and he had a tutor who appreciated the buttery side of his crust.

Mrs. Titus after thanking me warmly and, I think, sincerely for all that I had done for Alice, apologized in a perfunctory sort of way for having kept me out of my bed all night and hoped that I would not catch cold or have an attack of rheumatism.

I soon awoke to the fact that she was in the habit of centralizing attention. The usually volatile countess became subdued and repressed in her presence; the big son and the little one were respectfully quiescent; I confess to a certain embarrassment myself.

She was a handsome woman with a young figure, a good complexion, clear eyes, wavy brown hair and a rich, low voice, perfectly modulated. No doubt she was nearing fifty, but thirty-five might have been her guess, provided you were a bachelor. A bachelor learns something about women every day of his life, but not so much that he cannot be surprised the day after.

I endeavored to set her mind at rest by politely reminding her that I could not have slept in the bed anyway, having been out all night, and she smilingly assured me that it was a relief to find a literary man who wasn't forever saying flat, stupid things.

CHAPTER XX.

I Indulge in Plain Language.

I TOOK them over the castle—that is, a part of the castle. Mrs. Titus would not climb stairs. She confessed to banting, but drew the line at anything more exhausting. I fear I was too palpably relieved when she declined to go higher than the second story.

"It isn't necessary, Mr. Smart," she said sweetly. "to go into the history of the wretched Rothmoefens, as a Cook's interpreter might do. You see, I know the castle quite well, and I have had all the late news from my daughter."

"Of course," I agreed. "Stupid" of me not to remember that you are descended from—"

"Mother isn't half as stuck up about it as you might think, Mr. Smart," interrupted Jasper junior glibly. "She prefers to let people think her ancestors were Dutch instead of merely German. Dutch ancestors are the proper thing in Jew York."

"Jappia," said his mother severely. "How often must I caution you not to speak of New York as Jew York? Some day you will say it to a Jew. One can't be too careful. Heaven alone knows when one is in the presence of a Jew in these days."

"Oh, I'm not Hebraic!" said I quickly. "My ancestors were Dutch. They came over with the original skin grafters."

She looked puzzled for a moment. The countess laughed. Then Jasper saw the point. Collingraft was the last to see it, and then it was too late for him to smile.

We had tea in the loggia, and I dined with the family in the countess' apartment at 9 that night. I think Mrs. Titus was rather favorably impressed when she beheld me in my own apartment. Britton had smoothed out my evening clothes until they almost shone, and I managed to carry myself with unusual buoyancy.

Everything went very well that evening. We were all in fine humor, and the dinner was an excellent one. I perpetrated but one unhappy blunder. I asked Mrs. Titus if she knew the Riley-Werkheimers and the Rockworths in New York.

"Usually," she said succinctly, and I made haste to change the subject. The countess looked amused, and Collingraft said something about it being more than likely that we did not have any mutual acquaintances in New York. His sister came to my rescue with a very amusing and exaggerated account of my experience with the Riley-Werkheimers and Rockworths. Jasper was enthusiastic. Something told me that I was going to like him. My troubles began the next day, and at the rather unseemly hour of 8 o'clock in the morning, Collingraft came down the hall in a bath gown and slippers, banged on my bedroom door and wanted to know why he couldn't have hot water for his bath. He was too full-blown and all that sort of thing, he blabbed, to take a cold plunge. Moreover, he wasn't used to taking his bath in a tin cup. (That was his sarcastic way of referring to my portable, handy bathtub.) I asked him why he didn't ring for Britton, and he said he did, but that Britton was assisting Jasper in a wild chase for a bat which had got into the lad's room during the night.

"Thank you, my lucky stars it didn't get into mother's room," he said surlily. I silently thanked them.

He made such a row about his tub that I had to give him the pail of hot water Britton had placed in my bedroom preparatory to my own bath.

At breakfast Jasper complained about the bats. He couldn't for the life of him see why I didn't have screens in the windows. Later on Mrs. Titus, who had coffee and toast in her room, joined us in the loggia and announced that the coffee was stone cold. Moreover, she did not like the guest chamber into which she had been moved by order of the countess. It was too huge for a bedchamber, and the iron window shutters creaked all night long.

"But you love the view you have of the Danube?" I inquired rather mournfully.

"I don't sit in the window all night, Mr. Smart," she said tartly.

I at once insisted on her resuming possession of my bedroom and promptly had all of my things moved into the one she had occupied during the night. When the countess heard of this arrangement she was most indignant. She got me off in a corner and cruelly informed me that I hadn't the vestige of a backbone. She must have said something to her mother, too, for when evening came around I had to move back into my own room. Mrs. Titus sweetly assuring me that under no consideration would she consent to impose upon my good nature and hospitality to such an extent, etc.

During the day at odd times Collingraft made lofty suggestions in regard to what could be done with the place to make it more or less inhabitable, and Jasper—who, by the way, I was beginning to fear I should not like after all—said he'd just like to have a whack at the thing himself. First thing he'd do would be to turn some of those old, unused rooms into squash and racket courts, and he'd also put in a swimming pool and a hot water plant.

Late in the afternoon I stole far up into the eastern tower to visit my adorable friend Rosemary. We played house together on the nursery floor, and I soon got over my feeling of depression. But even in play I was made to realize that I was not the master of the house. She ruled me with the utmost despotism, but I didn't mind. She permitted me to sip honey from that cunning place in her little neck and managed to call me Unko. My heart grew warm and soft again under the spell of her.

The countess watched us at play from her seat by the window. She was strangely still and pensive. I had the feeling that she was watching me all the time and that there was a shadow of anxiety in her lovely eyes. She smiled at our pranks, and yet there was something sad in the smile.

I was young again with Rosemary and full of glee. She took me out of myself. I forgot the three Tituses and with them many of my woes. Here was a cure for the blues—this gay little kiddie of the unspeakable Tarnowsky!

I lay awake for hours that night, but when I finally went to sleep—and heaven knows I needed it—it was with the soporific resolution to put my house rigidly in order the very next day. The Titus family (omitting the countess and Rosemary) was to be favored with an ultimatum from which there could be no appeal. John Bellamy Smart had decided—with Morpheus smoothing out the wrinkles of perplexity—that he would be master in his own house.

Dinner Stories

Mr. Picklelilly came home from his club one morning about 6 o'clock. He entered his happy home, crept up the stairs softly, so as not to awaken his spouse, then felt for the switch to turn on the electric light. He could not find it, and in the darkness stumbled over a chair. "What's that?" came a voice from the bed. "Where in the deuce are the lights in this house?" snarled Picklelilly, trying to put a bold face on the matter. "Lights! Is coming!" "Have you heard, Bill?" cried Mrs. Picklelilly, scathingly. "Pull up the blinds!"

An elegantly dressed woman, accompanied by her daughter, was walking down an English village street. A couple of men loitering at the door of the public house irritated her. "Do you know," she asked her companion, in stage tones, "that con- scription is coming?" "Have you heard, Bill?" following her retreating footsteps in similar accents, "that there's a great scarcity of nurses at the front?"

One day a visiting clergyman, who was to preach before the students at an eastern university, asked how long he was expected to talk.

"Of course, we put no time limit upon you," replied the president while he cordially shook hands with the minister, "but we have a feeling here that no souls are saved after the first twenty minutes."

"How old would you say I am?" asked the foolish maiden. "I haven't the slightest idea," replied the wise youth, "but I can safely say you don't look it."

Dr. E. Lester Jones is the new chief of the U. S. coast and geodetic survey, described aptly by a Washington newspaper man as "one of the government's extremely 'high brow' bureaus of public service."

Born in New Jersey, Dr. Jones early began a course of intensive study that took him through several schools in this country and then carried him through a special course at Heidelberg, until now at the age of forty he is one of the foremost scientists in the whole government service.

SAYS SON WAS SHANGHAIED

New Orleans Father Brings Suit for $10,000 Against British Vessel.

New Orleans.—Charges that George Farmer was shanghaied aboard the British mule ship, Anglo-Australian, here, and that severe treatment afterward was contributory to his death, are made in a $10,000 libel filed against the vessel by Edward Farmer, his father.

Young Farmer died three days after the vessel left New Orleans, February 17, for Avonmouth, according to reports of the vessel's officers, when they arrived Thursday. They said he had been seized with an epileptic fit soon after going aboard.

In the petition the father charges that Farmer was taken aboard the vessel in an intoxicated condition and lashed to a stanchion. The petition seeks forth his treatment resulted in a fit and that he died without attention.

CAN RISE ON THE FARM TOO

Phillips Was a "Hand" Nine Years Ago—Now He Is Boss of Dairy Farm.

Oley, Pa.—A day laborer nine years ago, James M. Phillips can answer quite satisfactorily the question "Does farming pay?" He had a public vendue the other day, and the $7,000 proceeds represent his net profits in the nine years.

Mr. Phillips believes in specializing when it relates to the dairy herd, and in talking of his success with Ayrshire cows says it does not cost any more to raise pure-bred stock than mixed breed.

The secret of his success he puts thus: "Tend to your own business; farm when it is time to farm, and rest or enjoy leisure when the proper time is at hand."

Bachelor's Idea.

A bachelor is a man who thinks that all married men have to invent new and strange excuses every time they want to get away from home for a little session with the boys.

ABE MARTIN

Russia Vast Nation Composed of Separate Clans of People

Washington, D. C., May 23.—"Russia contains within its vast borders probably the world's most interesting assembly of peoples and fragments of peoples; peoples not as in the United States melted to a certain uniform mould of character, forced to lose much of the peculiar under the pressure of a more complex, more highly developed social organization, but peoples still distinctively peoples, preserving in themselves the fascinating markings handed down from tribal days, when a journey between countries was an undertaking, and a journey between nations a feat of arms, the soldier of fortune, the diplomat, the statesman, and the foremost of artists and scholars.

"Among these interesting, still persistently individual peoples of Russia, the Letts, the dwellers of the Baltic provinces, whose fields are now once more the scene of invasion and battle, captivate the imagination and reflection through the mystery of their origin, the romance of their history, and the peculiarities of their present relationships to mighty Russia. The Letts are a branch of the Lithuanian, a Slavonic division whose past in the marshy swamps of Lithuania lies as deeply hidden as the mystic ritual of the Druids. Lithuania was once a great kingdom, later an element of the unfortunate Polish nation, and now a part of the states of Russia and Prussia. The Letts, a subdivision of this people, have survived as its most distinctive representatives."

"Thus hugging the bulletin issued today by the National Geographic Society, which deals with the native population, the patient, long-suffering farmers, fishermen and small tradesmen among whom Russian and German armies are contending for the mastery of the regions around the eastern elbow of the Baltic. The statement continues:

"The Russians, whose name persists in 'Prussia' as the modern Prussians, or, at least, as an important element that has gone into the makeup of Prussia's citizenry. They, however, are lost as a Lithuanian tribe; have been thoroughly assimilated to a modern amateuatic type that feels itself a unit and not a composite, that feels itself more nearly akin to the German than to the Slavonian. The Lithuanian of the interior Russian Lithuanian provinces feels a kinship with the Pole, whose political fortunes he shared so long. He is beginning to feel a kinship with the Pole, whose political fortunes he shared. He is beginning to feel a kinship with the Russian, whose fortunes have now become his own. The Lett, on the other hand, the Lithuanian tribesman of the Baltic provinces, where the German invaders are now marching and fighting, still feels himself an element apart.

"The Lett is taciturn, morose, little given to welcoming the stranger. He dwells apart, not as the communistic Russian, in villages whose houses closely press one another. The Lett preserves his own tongue, traditions and dreams, and remains in his twentieth century more than half a worshipper of Nature and a believer in omens and black craft. The old gods whom he cherished and revered after Europe all around him had accepted the teachings of Christ, still survive for him in a thousand superstitions, even though he is as devout as any of the other present-day Christians.

"The Lett was Christianized by the sword wielded in the hands of the Germans and the Swedes. Shortly after the year 1200 a religious order, known as the Order of the Sword Bearers, was formed, and began the process of converting the inhabitants of the Baltic provinces. Members of the order wore white mantles with a red cross on the shoulder. They were recruited largely in Westphalia and Saxony, and, with their superior weapons, they had little difficulty in overrunning the Lett provinces. The Letts were dispossessed of the land; German landlords and merchants came; outposts of the Hanseatic league were strengthened, and the Lett sank into serfdom.

"There are more than 2,000,000 Letts. Well built, of average height, seldom tall; the face elongated and the features finely cut; very fair hair, keen blue eyes and delicate skins are among the external characteristics that distinguish a Lett from a Pole or a Russian. They are a highly imaginative people, and from their ranks have come some of Russia's gifted artists. They possess an immense treasure of folk-songs, and many wonderful legends, born in the dark of the swampy forests of Great Lithuania."
